Snow forecast - Monday 29 April 2013

It's an unsettled, but mild start to the week with lots of rain across the south-western Alps and some snow at high altitude.

Detailed forecast:

Austria

The rest of today (Monday) and Tuesday will be mostly cloudy and mild, with a few bright or sunny spells here and there. Most places should stay dry, but the odd light shower can't be ruled out (snow 2600m).

Wednesday should see more in the way of sunshine, with freezing levels remaining close to 3000m. The risk of showers returns on Thursday, heavy in places, with a little snow above 2600m.

France

Today (Monday) and Tuesday will see showers or longer spells of rain, heaviest across the southern Alps, more scattered in the far north. It will be very mild with the rain/snow limit between 2600-3000m.

Wednesday should see a slight improvement in the weather, particularly in the southern Alps, but some showers are still likely, especially in the afternoon (snow 2800m). Thursday will be a little cooler with a continuing risk of showers (snow 2500m).

Italy

The western Italian Alps will be very wet today (Monday) and tomorrow (Tuesday), with significant snow above 2500m or so. Wednesday and Thursday should be a little brighter, but further showers (snow 2400m) are still possible from time to time.

The eastern Italian Alps will also be mostly cloudy today (Monday) and Tuesday, but with any showers lighter and more scattered (snow 2600m). Wednesday and Thursday should see more in the way of sunshine.

Switzerland

The rest of today (Monday) and Tuesday will be mostly cloudy with showers, heaviest and most frequent in the south, with significant snow above 2600-

2800m. Wednesday and Thursday will be brighter, but with scattered showers, heavy in places (snow 2500-2800m).

Raining in Zermatt today, but lots of fresh snow up on the glacier.

Outlook:

The end of the week doesn't look too bad for most places, with some sunshine (particularly in the southern Alps) and just a scattering of showers. Temperatures will be close to normal for the time of year with freezing levels around 3000m.
